

SILENT STRENGTH

Poems on Courage, Disability and the Human Spirit

S. Ihshana Fathima

Dedication

This book is dedicated to all strong souls
who fight silent battles
every day.

Preface

This book is a collection of poems about strength, courage, and the silent battles faced by people with disabilities.

*These poems reflect hope, resilience,
and the power of the human spirit.*

Strength Beyond Steps

*I saw you walking slowly one day
But your courage was running miles ahead
My legs may move faster than yours
Yet your heart travels much further
People call it disability
But I see a different ability.
Every step you take tells a story
Of patience, hope and quiet glory,
You don't need wings to rise
Your spirit already touches the skies*

The Real Hero

*Heroes are not always in movies
Sometimes they sit beside us quietly
They struggle with things we ignore
Yet they never stop trying
When life closed a door for you
You opened ten windows of courage
People see limitation
But I see determination
If bravery had a face
It would look a lot like yours*

Walking Lesson

*I used to think walking was easy
Until I saw your effort
Every step you take teaches patience
Every smile teaches strength
You fall, you rise again
Without blaming the world
Your courage is a silent teacher
Your life is a living poem
Maybe the strongest people are not the fastest
But the ones who never stop moving*

The Silent Battle

*Every day you wake up,
And the battle begins again.
Not with weapons or anger,
But with patience and courage.
The world may never notice,
How hard your mornings are.
Yet you rise without complaint,
And move forward slowly.
Sometimes the bravest warriors,
Fight battles no one sees.*

Silent Courage

*You don't shout about your pain,
You carry it quietly.
You don't ask for sympathy,
You ask for a chance.
Your life is not a weakness,
It is a story of courage.
Every small victory you win,
Is bigger than many successes.
People may not notice your struggle,
But your strength shines anyway.*

Ability in Disguise

*They see what you cannot do
But I see what you refuse to stop doing
Life may have given you a harder road
Yet you walk it with courage
Some people have everything
But still complain about life
You have challenges
Yet you still smile
Maybe ability isn't about the body
Maybe it lives inside the heart*

More Than What We See

*Eyes can see the body,
But not the strength inside.
People judge quickly,
Without knowing your battles.
Your life teaches something powerful,
That courage has no shape.
A strong mind can rise anywhere,
Even in the hardest situations.
You are not defined by limits,
You are defined by resilience.*

A Lesson to the World

*Many people walk easily,
But few walk bravely.
You show the world every day,
What determination looks like.
Your journey is not easy,
Yet you never stop dreaming.
The world may call you disabled,
But I call you extraordinary.
Because strength is not measured by muscles,
It is measured by the heart.*

Courage in Every Step

*I used to walk without thinking,
But you walk with courage.
Every small step you take,
Is a victory I never noticed.
The world may call it slow,
But I call it strength.
Because giving up is easy,
Trying again is hard.
You choose effort every day,
And that makes you powerful.*

A Quiet Warrior

*Not every warrior holds a sword,
Some hold patience instead.
You fight silent battles daily,
Without asking for applause.
The world may not notice,
But your courage is real.
Each challenge you face,
Is another mountain climbed.
You are stronger than you think,
And stronger than many know.*

Not Broken

*People look with pity sometimes,
But they don't see the truth.
You are not broken or weak,
You are simply different.
Life gave you a tougher path,
Yet you walk it bravely.
Your spirit refuses to stop,
Even when the road is rough.
Strength is not in perfection,
Strength is in persistence.*

A Different Journey

*Our roads may look the same,
But your journey is harder.
Yet you never complain loudly,
You simply keep moving.
The world sometimes forgets you,
But you never forget hope.
Your patience is a quiet fire,
Your courage a steady light.
Maybe heroes are not famous,
Maybe they just keep trying.*

The Strongest Smile

*Many people smile easily,
But yours means something deeper.
It hides pain and effort,
Yet shines with hope.
When life pushes you down,
You slowly rise again.
That quiet determination,
Is stronger than loud words.
Your smile teaches the world,
How brave a human can be.*

More Than Limits

*People sometimes see limits,
But I see endless strength.
Your body may struggle,
But your spirit never does.
Every effort you make,
Is louder than excuses.
You prove something important,
That courage has no shape.
Your life is a reminder,
That ability lives in the heart.*

The Real Meaning of Strength

*Strength is not just muscles,
It is the will to continue.
You show that every day,
Without making a big noise.
While others fear small problems,
You face bigger ones calmly.
Your determination inspires me,
More than you may know.
Because true power is quiet,
And you carry it proudly.*

The Strength I Never Saw

*I used to think strength was loud,
Like thunder in the sky.
But your strength is silent,
Like the sunrise every day.
You rise slowly with effort,
Yet you never stop rising.
The world may not clap for you,
But your courage echoes loudly.
Sometimes the quietest battles,
Create the strongest hearts.*

Extraordinary Spirit

*The world may measure success,
By speed or perfection.
But you measure life differently,
With courage and hope.
Every small progress matters,
Every effort becomes victory.
You remind us all,
That strength has many forms.
And sometimes the strongest people,
Are the ones who never give up.*

A Light That Doesn't Fade

*Storms may come often,
But your light never fades.
Challenges surround you daily,
Yet hope stays alive.
Your courage shines softly,
Like a candle in darkness.
Even when the wind blows,
You protect that flame.
That small light of determination,
Is brighter than many suns.*

The Mirror of Humanity

*When I look at you,
I see more than struggle.
I see the mirror of humanity.
You show what life really is.
Not comfort, not perfection,
But courage through difficulty.
Many people have everything,
Yet feel empty inside.
You have challenges every day,
Yet your spirit stays full.*

The Weight You Carry

*I carry books and bags daily,
But you carry something heavier.
You carry the weight of doubt,
The stares of strangers.
Yet you still walk forward,
Without letting them break you.
Your steps may be slower,
But your courage is faster.
Not everyone can carry pain,
And still smile like you.*

Story of Fire

*Your life is not a weakness,
It is a fire inside you.
A fire that refuses to die,
Even when storms arrive.
Pain may visit often,
But hope stays longer.
You build strength slowly,
From every broken moment.
Some stories inspire the world,
And yours is one of them.*

Beyond the Body

*People see the body first,
But they forget the soul.
Your body may struggle sometimes,
But your spirit stands tall.
There is a power inside you,
Stronger than any limitation.
Because true strength lives deeper,
Where eyes cannot reach.
And that hidden strength,
Is what makes you remarkable.*

The Lesson You Teach

*Some teachers stand in classrooms,
But you teach through life.
Your patience teaches humility,
Your courage teaches strength.
Every effort you make,
Is a silent lesson.
That life is not about comfort,
It is about persistence.
Watching you reminds me,
How powerful the human spirit is.*

The World Walks Fast

*The world walks too fast,
Without seeing real courage.
But when I watch you move,
I learn the meaning of effort.*

*Every step is a battle,
Every smile a victory.
You remind me quietly,
That life is not a race.
It is a journey of persistence,
And you travel it bravely.*

A Lesson in Humility

*Watching you changed something in me.
I used to complain about small things.
But your life showed me truth.
Strength is not comfort.
Strength is continuing anyway.
Even when the road is unfair.
Even when people don't understand.
Your courage speaks without words.
And that silent message,
Teaches the world humility.*

A Mountain Within

*Some people climb mountains outside,
But you climb one inside.
Every day brings a challenge,
Yet you rise again.
Your determination builds slowly,
Like stones forming a mountain.
People may not see the climb,
But I know it is hard.
And anyone who climbs daily,
Is already a champion.*

The Road You Walk

*Your road is not smooth,
It is full of stones and hills.
Yet you walk it slowly,
Without losing hope.
Many people would stop,
But you keep moving forward.
Your determination speaks louder,
Than any motivational speech.
Because real inspiration,
Is a life like yours.*

A Lesson I Needed

*I used to complain often,
About things that didn't matter.
But watching you changed me.
You struggle more than many.
Yet you complain less than most.
That quiet bravery inspires me.
It reminds me of something important.
Gratitude makes life stronger.
And your life shows clearly,
How powerful gratitude can be.*

A Different Kind of Strength

*Some people show strength loudly,
But yours is calm and quiet.
You carry challenges daily,
Like a mountain on your shoulders.
Still your eyes hold hope,
Still your heart holds dreams.
That quiet determination,
Is stronger than loud victories.
Because strength is not noise,
It is endurance.*

The Power of the Human Spirit

*The human body has limits,
But the human spirit does not.
You prove that every day.
Even when the road is hard.
You rise with determination.
You walk with quiet bravery.
You live with deep patience.
And that powerful spirit,
Shines brighter than perfection.
Because courage is the greatest ability.*

The Meaning of Ability

*Ability is not just running fast,
Or climbing tall mountains.
Ability is facing difficulty,
And refusing to give up.
You show that every day.
Your spirit moves forward bravely.
Even when the body hesitates.
Your courage becomes your strength.
And that strength proves something beautiful.
Ability lives inside determination.*

The True Definition of Brave

*Bravery is not only in danger.
Sometimes bravery is living daily life.
Facing challenges quietly.
Trying again after failure.
Standing strong when tired.
Smiling even through pain.
You do all these things.
Without asking for praise.
That is why your life itself,
Is the definition of brave.*

The Courage to Continue

Life sometimes asks difficult questions.

You answer them with courage.

Pain may slow your steps,

But it never stops your spirit.

Every day you continue trying,

Even when the path is heavy.

That simple act of continuing,

Is a powerful victory.

Because the strongest hearts,

Are the ones that refuse to quit.

The Unbreakable Spirit

*Storms may bend a tree,
But some trees never break.
You are one of those trees.
Challenges may push you down.
But they never destroy you.
Your spirit rises again.
Stronger and wiser each time.
People may see struggle.
But I see resilience.
And resilience is true power.*

The Light Inside

*Dark days come for everyone,
But you face them often.
Still your spirit glows,
Like a quiet candle.
Even when the wind blows hard,
You protect that flame.
That small light of hope,
Refuses to disappear.
And sometimes one small light,
Can guide the whole world.*

The Unseen Victory

*Victory is not always a trophy,
Sometimes it is simply trying again.
Your life proves that daily.
You fight battles quietly.
Not on a stage or battlefield,
But inside your own journey.
Each effort you make,
Is a hidden victory.
And hidden victories like yours,
Are the bravest of all.*

When I Learned Respect

*Before I met you,
I never thought about effort.
Walking felt ordinary.
Living felt simple.
But your journey opened my eyes.
You showed me patience.
You showed me courage.
You showed me resilience.
And suddenly I understood,
What real strength looks like.*

Different, Not Less

*The world moves in a hurry
But you move with meaning
They say you are different
I say you are rare
Your silence speaks louder than noise
Your patience stronger than storms
While many complain about small things
You fight battles with a smile
Maybe strength isn't loud after all
Maybe strength looks like you*

A Different Kind of Light

*Some stars shine loudly in the sky
But some glow softly in silence
You are that quiet star
Even when the world forgets to look
You keep shining in your own way
Your strength isn't in speed
It's in never giving up
Your journey may be harder
But your light is brighter
And the world needs that light*

The True Race

*Life is often called a race,
But everyone runs differently.
Some run with speed,
Some run with courage.
You may move slower in steps,
But faster in determination.
The finish line is not speed,
It is perseverance.
And in that race of strength,
You are already winning.*

About the Author

S. Ihshana Fathima is a passionate writer who expresses emotions through poetry.

Her writings focus on courage,
strength, and the beauty of the human spirit.

Silent Strength is a powerful collection of poems that explores courage, patience, and resilience.

This book shows that true strength is not loud — but quiet and unbreakable.

S. Ihshana Fathima